

Suppliers Frequently Asked Questions & Answers

General

Question	Answer
What is the status of the acquisition of innogy by E.ON?	In March 2018, E.ON announced the acquisition of Innogy SE via a large-scale exchange of assets and businesses between E.ON and RWE. The EU Commission has approved the transaction and the innogy shares owned by RWE were transferred to E.ON subsequently. E.ON and innogy now belong together.
What is the rationale of transaction?	The new E.ON sees itself as an architect in precisely those areas that will determine the success of Europe's energy system transformation: smart distribution grids and innovative customer solutions. We will be one of the strongest operators of European energy networks and energy-related infrastructure, as well as a provider of advanced customer solutions. With a total of over 70,000 employees we will be represented in 15 countries. This makes us ideally positioned to help drive Europe's energy transition. The new E.ON has significantly more potential and expertise than before – it is even stronger, innovative and proficient in the areas of energy networks and customer solutions. This benefits our customers and partners, our employees and investors as well as Europe, Germany and Essen.
Where can I find additional information?	Please access the E.ON website www.eon.com for additional information regarding the transaction.

Contact person

Question	Answer
Will there be a change in the existing contact person I am dealing with at the moment at E.ON and/or innogy?	There will be no change regarding your contact person unless you are informed about changes by the E.ON/innogy Supply Chain/Procurement Department.

Contracts & Tenders

Question	Answer
What happens to my existing contracts with E.ON and/or innogy?	The existing contracts remain valid as per stipulations therein, e.g. the contracting party, purchase order/contract number, invoicing address and contract duration remain the same, unless you are contacted by the E.ON/innogy Supply Chain/Procurement Department.

I have contracts for the same scope of work/products/services with E.ON and innogy - what happens to them?

For the time being, the contracts will be treated separately and remain valid as per stipulations therein, unless you are contacted by the E.ON/innogy Supply Chain/Procurement Department.

I have contracts only with E.ON or innogy which could be of interest for the respective other party. Can I also offer this contract to either innogy or E.ON?

The E.ON/innogy Supply Chain/Procurement Department is going to contact you with regards to tendering activities deemed relevant for you or necessary contract amendments.

Will there be any change in the procedure to running tender activities now that E.ON and innogy belong together?

The running tendering activities will continue as planned. In case of any changes you will be contacted by the E.ON/innogy Supply Chain/Procurement Department.

Can I also participate in new joint tenders if I previously delivered only to E.ON or innogy?

All E.ON/innogy suppliers are being treated in a fair manner. As in the past, E.ON/innogy will invite suitable suppliers to participate in upcoming tenders.

Organizational

Question

Answer

Today I am using innogy or/and E.ON specific tools (e.g. for invoicing, tendering, onboarding) etc. Will there be changes?

There is no change, unless you are contacted by the E.ON/innogy Supply Chain/Procurement Department.

Invoicing

Question

Answer

Will there be any change in relation to the invoicing, e.g. for the format and process of the invoice, invoicing address, bank account details, reference number (such as purchase order)?

For the time being there will be no changes to the invoicing unless you are contacted by the E.ON/innogy Supply Chain/Procurement Department.

Will the E.ON/innogy accounting hotline/email continue to exist?

For the time being there will be no changes unless you are contacted by the E.ON/innogy Supply Chain/Procurement Department and informed about changes.

Delivery

Question

Answer

Will there be a change with regards to the delivery of products/services (e.g. delivery address, delivery times, company name, new locations etc.)?

For the time being there will be no changes unless you are contacted by E.ON/innogy Supply Chain/Procurement Department and informed about changes.